2h00

STREET NAMES TELL STORIES...

Here is a really original way of presenting the history of a city: through the street names. These names are often related to specific events or places that no longer exist. Thus, was Trois-Raisinets Street so named after an unusually poor grape harvest? Not at all! Tambour Street? ... You're stumped, right? Oh yes, and what about Jeanne d'Arc Street? That's easier, of course, but wouldn't it be fun to review your classics from time to time - especially when your tour is filled with anecdotes...

2h00

GUIDED TOURS

REIMS AT NIGHT...

Touring the historic centre of Reims after nightfall means enjoying an architectural heritage that is magnified by the play of lights and shadows. 1h30

IN THE FOOTSTEPS OF THE KINGS OF FRANCE

"How many kings have been crowned in Reims?" This is perhaps the question that will push you to open the doors of the Cathedral and of the neighbouring Palace of Tau during a (very) short but (very) rich itinerary dedicated to the Royal destiny of Reims. A destiny that was born with the baptism of Clovis fifteen centuries ago. Royal opulence is yours!

THE CHAMPAGNE TOURIST ROUTE

The well-signposted Champagne Tourist Route winds among the vineyards, on the steep slopes where the villages, castles and churches perch. Over 15,000 wine growers cultivate 90% of the Champagne appellation region. Some of them produce their own wines (by themselves or in cooperatives); others sell their grapes to the Champagne houses with whom they have signed contracts lasting many years. Around Reims, you can explore the Massif de Saint-Thierry and the Ardre Valley to the west, the Mont de Berru to the east and the Montagne de Reims to the south.

CORMICY - RURAL COMMUNE

Cormicy, a town of great historical interest, is the only "Cité de Caractère" that was entirely destroyed during the First World War. Surrounded by the vineyards of Champagne a few kilometres North of Reims, Cormicy was totally destroyed in 1914-1918. During the decade of 1920-1930, its reconstruction was exemplary. Its medieval layout was retained in its broad outlines and its architecture is typically urban and non-rural.

CHAMPAGNE CELLARS

Discover the Saint-Nicaise Hill in Reims, one of the three representative ensembles granted World Heritage status. Once a shaft for the extraction of chalk mined during the medieval era, the underground galleries of the Saint-Nicaise Hill were converted into wine cellars by the Champagne Houses of Vranken Pommery, Taittinger, Veuve Clicquot, Ruinart, Charles Heidsieck and G.H. Martel, owing to their optimal conditions for the aging of champagne. The bottles, kept at a constant temperature during the year, with a high rate of hygrometry and protection from light, thus preserve their qualities of harmony, freshness and effervescence.

GENERAL TERMS

Article 1

Authorized Tourist Offices, under the French law passed on 22nd July 2009, may handle bookings and sales for all types of services, leisure and general tourist activities within the area where they operate. They help the general public by offering a range of tourism services. Tourist Offices are local bodies that promote tourism, which can be used by suppliers of services who are not members of the tourist office and who have signed with them an agency agreement. Within this framework, the Tourist Office wishes to be able to sell various services for guided tours and tourist packages, which will be governed by the present general terms and conditions of sale.

Article 2 - Liability

The Tourist Office which offers services to a customer is the only body which this customer will deal with and is responsible to the customer for the services booked being carried out and for any obligations arising from the present terms and sales conditions. The Tourist Office cannot be held liable if the services booked are not carried out or are only partially carried out or if the obligations stipulated in the present terms and sales conditions are not fulfilled or are only partially fulfilled because of fortuitous events, because of «force majeure», because of what the customer has failed to carry out or errors on the customer's part, or because of unforeseeable and unavoidable events caused by a third party not involved in supplying the services.

Article 3 - Drawing up the contract

All bookings made by the customer presuppose that the customer accepts the present terms and sales conditions without restriction or reserve.

If the customer considers that they have insufficient information about the details of the services they wish to book, before proceeding with any booking they may request additional information from the Tourist Office.

When making a booking, the customer implicitly acknowledges that they have obtained the information they required about the nature and features of the services booked.

With regard to guided tours, the services contract becomes firm and final when the client returns the duly signed estimate to the Tourist Office and pays the total price of the guided tours ordered at the rates in effect before the date of the said service.

With regard to packages, the services contract becomes firm when the client returns the duly completed and signed booking contract to the Tourist Office together with a down payment equal to 30% of the total price. If the package is booked fewer than 30 days before it is due to start, full payment is required at the time of booking.

In the event that the customer requests additional services, according to the terms laid down in article 7 of the present general terms and sales conditions, the booking contract becomes firm when the client returns the signed estimate to the Tourist Office and agrees to the above payment terms. Until these conditions have been fulfilled, the services contract is not deemed to have been drawn up and the Tourist Office will be in no way obliged to carry out the services booked.

For several-day packages and additional services, the booking contract and 30% deposit must reach the Tourist Office at least sixty (60) days before arriving in Reims.

For day packages and guided tours the above documents must be returned to the Tourist Office at least thirty (30) days before the date of arrival in Reims.

As soon as the services contract is drawn up according to the terms outlined above, it may no longer be subject to any alteration either by the customer or the Tourist Office, unless the parties agree to this, except under the terms stipulated hereinafter in the present general terms and sales conditions and except in the event of «force majeure».

For additional packages and services, upon receiving an invoice from the Tourist Office the client agrees to pay the balance 15 days before the start of the service. The invoice will include the final price due and take the number of people announced into account. If the balance is not paid by the agreed-upon date, the package will be considered cancelled and the deposit will not be refunded.

Article 4 - Prices

The prices shown on the price lists include all taxes for the services listed there and such as they are described in the Tourist Office's brochure entitled « guided tours and packages for groups ».

With regard to guided tours, the prices include:

- provision of one or more guides of the Tourist Office (guides meet their groups at our offices right next to the cathedral).

However, prices do not include meals or entrance to the museums and champagne houses. With regard to guided tours, prices cover consecutive hours and any hour that has been started must be paid for.

With regard to packages, prices include (according to the chosen package, as described in all commercial documents issued by the Tourist Office):

- provision of one or more guides of the Tourist Office (guides meet their groups at our offices right next to the cathedral),
- meal(s) with or without drinks, depending on the package chosen, as it is described in the Tourist Office's sales documents
- entrance to the museums mentioned, unless otherwise mentioned in the Tourist Office's sales documents
- entrance to wine cellars mentioned,
- accommodation (according to the chosen package, as described in all commercial documents issued by the Tourist Office).

Prices do not include the tourist tax, which must be paid directly to the accommodating establishment.

Prices do not include the rights payable to the SACEM (society that protects the rights of music authors, composers and publishers) unless mentioned in the programme.

For groups, prices are given for groups that provide their own vehicle, fit with a public address system and a seat for the guide.

Regarding the price of packages mentioned in brochure, the price indicated is per person and is based on a minimum of thirty (30) people without fees.

Consequently, should the group be under 30 people, the client must contact the Tourist Office Sales Department in order to be informed about rates on various bases.

With regard to additional services, the price includes all the services which appear on the quotation.

The prices shown on the price lists are valid for guided tours and packages delivered during the year 2017 i.e. from January 1st to December 31st 2017 (rates subject to change in 2017). Economic fluctuations may result in changes in rates and services.

Article 5 - Terms and conditions for carrying out services

The duration of the service is stipulated in the booking contract or the quotation which has been filled in and signed by the client. Given the specific nature of the service it cannot under any circumstances be extended after the service's date of expiry.

So that the service can be carried out correctly, the customer must arrive on the date specified and at the times given in the booking contract or quotation.

The meeting place with our guides is at the reception of the Tourist Office (in front of Médiathèque Falala. If a meeting place is agreed outside the city centre for visits outside of Reims, any transport costs to the meeting place will be borne by the customer.

Should any delay occur, the client undertakes to inform the Tourist Office by telephone (Sales Department - tel: 33(0)3 26 77 45 15).

In the event of any delay, without this in any way justifying any price reduction or reimbursement to the client, the services will be shortened or may be extended depending on the guide's availability, it being stipulated that in the event of any extension the client undertakes to pay an additional fee for the service corresponding to the extra time worked by the guide compared to the projected time for the service based on current prices.

Regarding additional services, if the client wants to book any accommodation, hotel bedrooms must be vacated at the latest by 12.00 noon on the scheduled day of departure.

Visits to monuments, museums and other establishments depend on their opening hours and closing days.

In the event of any unforeseen closure, the Tourist Office cannot in any way be held liable for a visit not taking place as this unforeseen closure is deemed to be a fortuitous event.

Furthermore, with regard to visiting churches, visits cannot be organized inside the buildings on Sunday mornings because of the services taking place.

Likewise, if a visit inside a church is not possible because of an unplanned religious ceremony, the Tourist Office cannot in any way be held liable for a visit not taking place inside as this circumstance is deemed to be a fortuitous event.

Concerning group visits, the number of guides to be allocated is one guide for a maximum of thirty (30) people, whereas it is specified that for walking tours, the number of guides allocated is one guide for a maximum of twenty five (25) people.

Within the context of group visits, if the client does not provide a vehicle fit with public address system and a seat for the guide, the guide is entitled to refuse to undertake the visit, and the client expressly acknowledges and accepts this.

Article 6 - Exchange vouchers

As soon as the contract and payment in full is received, under the terms set out in article 3 of the present general terms and sales conditions, the Tourist Office will forward exchange vouchers to the client, to be handed over to the suppliers of services which the client will be dealing with.

However, depending on the time interval between the date of payment and the date of the trip, these vouchers may be given to the customer directly on their arrival.

Article 7 – Additional services

If the client wishes to use any services additional to those suggested in the Tourist Office commercial documents and price lists, the customer will need to contact the Tourist Office so that a detailed quotation can be prepared and sent to the client covering all the services requested.

As additional services, the Tourist Office can amongst others book and accept payment for hotel accommodation or meals in establishments of Reims and, for group visits, hire a coach, if the client cannot provide for a vehicle fit with a public address system, without these additional services being restrictive.

The terms, and in particular the terms of payment, for these additional services will be set out in the quotation sent to the customer.

Article 8 – When the client cancels

The Tourist Office must be notified of any partial or complete cancellation by registered letter with acknowledgement of receipt.

A partial cancellation means that a client cancels part of the service booked or if the number of participants is less than the number mentioned in the booking contract or quotation. In the event of the client making a partial or complete cancellation, the Tourist Office is fully entitled to charge the client penalty payments in the terms set out below:

For half-day and without accommodation programs:

- If the partial or complete cancellation occurs more than 15 days before the service is due to start, the Tourist Office will not apply any penalty payment and will reimburse the deposit paid, except reservation fees.

- If the partial or complete cancellation occurs between the 15th and the 8th day before the service is due to start, the Tourist Office shall retain a sum equal to 50% of the full price.

- If the partial or complete cancellation occurs between the 7th and the 3rd day before the service is due to start, the Tourist Office shall retain a sum equal to 80% of the full price.

- If the partial or complete cancellation occurs fewer than 3 days before the service is due to start, the Tourist Office shall retain the full price.

If the deposit paid to the Tourist Office is insufficient to cover the total amount of penalty payments owing to it, then the Tourist Office will send the customer an invoice for these penalty payments.

For programs with accommodation:

- If the partial or complete cancellation occurs more than 30 days before the service is due to start, the Tourist Office will not apply any penalty payment and will reimburse the deposit paid, except reservation fees. However, this more than 30 day delay could increase according to the sales conditions of the involved service providers.

- If the partial or complete cancellation occurs between the 30th and the 21st day before the service is due to start, the Tourist Office shall retain a sum equal to 30% of the full price.

- If the partial or complete cancellation occurs between the 20th and the 8th day before the service is due to start, the Tourist Office shall retain a sum equal to 50% of the full price.

- If the partial or complete cancellation occurs between the 7th and the 3rd day before the service is due to start, the Tourist Office shall retain a sum equal to 80% of the full price.

- If the partial or complete cancellation occurs fewer than 3 days before the service is due to start, the Tourist Office shall retain the full price.

Where there is a complete cancellation the penalty payment will be calculated from the overall price of the services that had been booked.

Where there is a partial cancellation, the penalty payment will be calculated from the price of the service(s) cancelled or from the overall price of the services proportionate to the number of participants who were absent compared to the number anticipated (except in specific instances).

If the deposit paid to the Tourist Office is insufficient to cover the total amount of penalty payments owing to it, then the Tourist Office will send the customer an invoice for these penalty payments.

If the number of participants is less than that stated in the contract, the cost of the service will be recalculated.

Article 9 – Alterations made by the Tourist Office to a substantial element of the contract.

Whenever the Tourist Office finds itself compelled to alter one of the essential elements of the contract before the service is due to start, the client may, without prejudice to any other rights and remedies, and after having been informed of this by the Tourist Office by registered letter with acknowledgement of receipt:

- either terminate its contract and obtain, without any penalty payments, immediate reimbursement of all monies paid

- or accept the alteration to or substitution of services suggested by the Tourist Office, in which case a paragraph will be added to the contract specifying the alterations made and signed by the parties. If the substitute service is less expensive than the service originally booked, the price differential will be deducted from the payment that the client may still have to make and, if the payment already made by the client exceeds the price of the new service, the overpayment will be reimbursed to the client before the service starts.

Article 10 – The Tourist Office is prevented from providing the services set out in the contract whilst the service is being delivered.

If, whenever a service is taking place, the Tourist Office finds that it is not possible to provide a major part of the services as set out in the contract and this represents a significant percentage of the price paid by the customer, without prejudice to any other rights and remedies of the client, the Tourist Office will offer the customer an alternative service to the one chosen and will bear any potential additional costs.

If the client accepts a service that is less expensive, the Tourist Office will reimburse the client the difference in price before the service has ended.

If the Tourist Office is unable to offer the customer a replacement service or if the client does not accept it for valid reasons, then the Tourist Office undertakes to reimburse the customer pro rata for the services not carried out proportionate to the total cost of the services, said reimbursement is to be made before the services have ended.

Article 11 – When the Tourist Office cancels

Whenever the Tourist Office cancels services before they are due to begin, it must inform the client by registered letter with acknowledgement of receipt.

Without prejudice to any other rights and remedies, any payments made will be reimbursed to the client immediately and without any penalty payment and moreover the client will receive compensation at least equal to the penalty payment they would have had to make if they had been responsible for the cancellation on this date. These provisions do not apply when an amicable settlement has been concluded, whose subject is the client's acceptance of a substitute service offered by the Tourist Office.

Article 12 – The client transfers the contract

The client may transfer the contract to a transferee who fulfils the same terms as the client in carrying out the service. In such an event, the client is obliged to inform the Tourist Office of its decision, by registered letter with acknowledgement of receipt at the very latest 7 days before the service starts.

The transfer of the contract must be made at the cost price. The transferor and the transferee are jointly liable towards the Tourist Office for payment of the balance outstanding, as well as for any possible extra expenses caused by this transfer.

Article 13 – Minimum number of participants

Some additional services or packages, such as they are described in the Tourist Office's price list and commercial documents, may require a minimum number of participants, as indicated in these commercial documents or in the quotation signed by the client.

Consequently, if the minimum number of participants is not reached, the Tourist Office reserves the right to cancel the service.

In this event, the Tourist Office undertakes to inform the client by registered letter with acknowledgement of receipt, at least fifteen (15) days before the service is scheduled to begin.

If this should happen, the Tourist Office undertakes to immediately reimburse the client all monies already paid for the service that has been cancelled. However, this cancellation will not entitle the customer to any claims for compensation.

Article 14 – Disputes

Any claim related to a service must be sent by registered letter with acknowledgement of receipt to the Tourist Office, within three (3) days of the service taking place, to the following address: 6 rue Rockefeller – CS 60013 – 51725 Reims cedex.

Failing this, the Tourist Office will not accept claims.

In the event of a claim being made, the parties will attempt to find an amicable settlement to their disagreement. Should the disagreement persist, the parties undertake to submit their dispute to the quality control department of the National Federation of Tourist Offices and Centres (Fédération Nationale des Offices de Tourisme et Syndicats d'Initiative), which will try to find an amicable settlement.

Should an out-of-court settlement not prove possible, the dispute will be submitted to the relevant courts of the City of Reims.

Article 15 – Insurance – Guarantees

The Tourist Office has taken out a civil liability insurance policy for tour operators with the company GAN 3-5, rue Bertin - 51100 REIMS, policy number 951 405798, and a financial guarantee with APST (15 avenue Carnot - F-75017 PARIS), for the sum of 30,000.00 €, in order to cover any eventualities arising from the professional civil liability that the Tourist Office may incur in its capacity of local tourism organization authorized to market tourist products.
